WM. L. TRAPP,
Committee.

Peck's Sun comes out humorously on the nomination of Mr. Williams after this fashion: "Chas. G. Williams of Janesville, was recommended for congress on Wednesday, at the Geneva Lake convention. The only thing against Williams is that he did not secure an appropriation for dredging the pickered grass out of Lake Koshkongong, and to put cribs in around the muskrat houses, so hunters of ducks can stand on dry land to shoot. But the people will give him one more chance to secure the appropriation."

The President has made up his mind to come West next month, and will visit Milwaukee. It is said that when Postmaster General Howe introduced ex-Governor Smith to the President, the other day in Washington, the former said, "O' course he will go to Milwaukee. I know he will." "No, you don't know I'll go," tartly replied the President. "You don't know any more about what I intend to do than you did before I vetoed the River and Harbor bill." This retort created quite a laugh. Just before the delegation withdrew the President said: "Laying all jokes aside, I have fully made up my mind to go to Milwaukee, and will in all probability reach your city about the middle of September."

General Chalmers of Mississippi who led the massacre at Fort Pillow, who recently represented the Shoe-String district in Congress, and who resorted to all sorts of damnable devices to cheat the Republicans out of the election, is an independent candidate for Congress, and it is charged that Hubbell is sending Republican funds down there to help him. The Republicans ousted Chalmers, and he should remain ousted. It is not prudent nor polite, and it is far from being just, to take any responsibility in the election of such a man as Chalmers. He was a notorious rebel, and has never repented, and beside that he would resort to the lowest means he could devise, if he were sure they would succeed, to strangle the Republicans of Mississippi, and deprive them of the right to vote. Chalmers' reputation belongs to the Democrats, and let them become responsible for it.

Senator Ben Harrison, of Indiana, grandson of President Harrison, is not flattered nor seduced by his name being connected with the Presidency. He says he has not heard the least humming of a Presidential bee, and he doesn't propose that it shall ever get in his bonnet. He said in a speech the other day, when some one nominated him for the next Republican President, "I have seen so many unwhipped statesmen in Indiana, by reason of the fact that they had allowed their longings eyes to rest on the White House, and having regard for my personal comfort, I have resolved that I will never allow the disease to catch me. It is the most fatal thing I know of. It is worse than leprosy. I never knew a man who had the slightest attack of it to be cured except by a six-foot hole in the ground." The disease has killed several statesmen, and Mr. Harrison proposes to take timely warning.

Resolved, That we, the representatives of the Democratic party of Oakland county, hold the recent appropriation of nineteen million dollars by Congress for rivers and harbors, except as it be made for the improvement of such as afford benefit to the government, is an unmitigated steal, and we denounce as unworthy of the name every Democrat who voted for the same.

Resolved, That we approve of the veto of President Arthur, and commend the action of Representative Williams of Monroe, who voted to sustain the same.

The above is the action of the Democrats of Oakland county, Michigan, a county which is heavily Democratic. There seems to be a new spirit taking hold of the Democrats of that progressive State. When the Democrats have the courage and honesty to denounce the Congressmen of their own party who voted for the outrageous bill, and to adopt resolutions praising the action of a Republican President for vetoing the measure, and of Republican members for voting against the bill, they are quite different from the Wisconsin Democracy, and are not far from the kingdom.

The North American Review for September has for its leading article a very forcible presentation, by Dorman B. Eaton, of the evils produced by the practice of lery "Political Assessments." The paper is noteworthy for its striking array of facts, but more so because it will be universally regarded as the ultimatum of a large and influential section of the Republican party, addressed to the party leaders. "Oaths in Legal Proceedings," by Judge Edward A. Thomas, is a discussion of the question whether the interests of morality and of public justice are alike, would not be promoted by the abrogation of all laws requiring testimony to be given under the sanction of an oath. Thompson B. Maury, late of the signal office, contributes an article on "Tornadoes and their Causes," which in addition to its scientific interest, possesses the merit of suggesting many practical measures for averting disaster to life and property from wind-storms. "Architecture in America," by Clarence Cook, is marked by a freedom of utterance that is refreshing. In this respect it deserves to rank with Commander Goring's celebrated paper on the United States Navy. Augustus G. Cobb writes of "Earth Burial and Cremation," and J. F. Manning, in an article entitled "The Geneva Award and the Ship-Owners," sets forth the justice of the claims of consignors of cargoes and owners of vessels to indemnification out of the Geneva Award fund, for losses from the acts of Confederate cruisers. The Review is sold by booksellers and newsdealers generally.

A few days ago the Gazette reprinted from the State Journal a portion of an editorial article in regard to the appointment by Congressmen Caswell of one Weatherly, of Lafayette, to a clerkship at Washington. The Journal seemed to have sufficient grounds for the complaint made in the editorial, but the Jefferson County Union, comes to the relief of Mr. Caswell and writes the following explanation:

"Under recent legislation, Wisconsin is entitled to an agricultural correspondent and statistical agent. This position Mr. Hazleton has already secured for Mr. Weatherly, of Shullsburg. Mr. Caswell, believing that the editor of this paper, by reason of his identification with the agricultural interests of the State for the past fifteen years, as well as being a resident more nearly the center of the agricultural portion of the State, had a certain fitness for such work, desired to obtain the situation which Mr. Weatherly held, for the writer hereof. This was wholly without our knowledge, but he was seconded in his efforts by both Senators, by Mr. Williams, of the First District and by Postmaster General Howe. The change could be effected, however, only by giving Mr. Weatherly some other place. Mr. Caswell accordingly requested the Secretary of the Interior to offer Mr. Weatherly a clerkship in the Pension Department. To accommodate all around, and to assign, to each a service for which he was well adapted, Mr. Weatherly was invited to take the clerkship."

The Gazette gladly publishes this explanation that Mr. Caswell may have all the benefit that may be derived from it, and we take the liberty of congratulating Mr. Howard on his appointment to a position under the government.

Frank Moulton, the "mutual friend" in the Deocher-Tilton matter has purchased the home of the Spragues—Canochet—in Rhode Island. It has been remarked that it is strangely odd that he should become the owner of that home—a man over whose own life the shadows crept some years ago. There is a sorrowful story connected with the faded and crumbling abode of the Spragues. It has been only a little more than twenty years ago since William Sprague was one of the rising young men of this country. He was comparatively very young in years when he was made Governor, a Major-General, a United States Senator, and a millionaire. No young man in the Union started out in life with richer hopes than William Sprague. He had influence, power, wealth, and plenty of cash; and beside these he became the husband of Kate Chase, daughter of the Chief Justice of the United States, who was counted one of the very handsomest and one of the most accomplished young ladies in this country. The home he took his young wife to in these bright days of their early life, was a luxurious one, surrounded by all that refined taste and money could command. Claude Melnotte did not describe to Pauline a fairer home than Canochet. But where is it to-day? William Sprague had no sooner reached national fame than he began on the downward grade. His wife, the idol of Washington society, was courted and flattered by men of high degree, and she lost her womanly dignity and motherly common sense. Jealousy crept in the home of the Spragues. Ill-fortune followed the husband and suspicion the wife, and then began the tragedy of heart and life which made a complete wreck of Canochet. It is one of the saddest domestic misfortunes that ever occurred in this country, not merely that a splendid home was wrecked, but that the husband and wife fell so far! Both were proud, self-willed, jealous, unyielding, and the devil took possession of the home. Financial embarrassment invaded the estate, the quarrel, founded on jealousy, grew in bitterness, a shadow struck across the brilliancies of the home, a separation took place, a divorce quickly followed, and at last Canochet goes down in wreck to ruin.

THREATENED TROUBLE.

OMAHA, Aug. 18.—Yesterday's news regarding the threat of the Sioux at Pine Ridge, to break out within sixty days unless their agent, McGillicuddy, is removed before the expiration of that period, is confirmed by a second dispatch from Colonel Sumner, commanding Fort Robinson, who intimates that the situation is regarded as serious.

Agent McGillicuddy has been telegraphed to make a detailed statement of the origin and causes of the trouble, and send the same to Omaha to await the arrival of General Crook from the East next week.

Unless the matter is settled it is feared a general Sioux war will ensue, and the opinion is expressed that General Crook can settle the whole matter by conferring with the Indians, in accordance with their request.

MILITIA IN CAMP.

CAMP CHARMAN, Devil's Lake, Aug. 18.—The Third Battalion Wisconsin National Guard, Lieutenant-Colonel Moore, of LaCrosse, commanding, is in camp here. They have had fine weather, with the exception of the first night in camp. To-day has been field day. The troops were reviewed by Governor Knis, ex-Governor Fairchild, General E. Bryant, and Adjutant-General Chapman, who arrived in camp last evening. The men showed great proficiency, and gave satisfaction by their soldierly bearing and conduct. A large crowd is in attendance from Burnsville and surrounding country. They break to-morrow. Maj. B. F. Parker, prohibition nominee for Congress in this district, belongs to this battalion, and is in camp.

DIPHTHERIA RAVAGES.

GALENA, Ill., Aug. 18.—The people of Gratiot, Wis., are again afflicted with that terrible disease diphtheria, which prevailed with such dreadful fatality in that city and other places in Southern Wisconsin a year ago. Thus far twelve deaths occurred, and large numbers are reported sick. Five deaths occurred in one family—that of William Shawley—in one week. The physicians have found no specific for the scourge.

HANGMAN'S DAY.

McKINNEY, Tex., Aug. 18.—Shadrach Caldwell, colored, was hanged to-day for the murder of a farmer named W. R. Norville, near that place, in October, 1881. A great crowd was present at the execution.

Trans from the north, south and east this morning came in loaded with spectators, and all kinds of vehicles last night and to-day brought in hundreds from the surrounding counties. A mounted guard of sixty men under Sheriff Warden escorted the prisoner from the jail to the gallows. Caldwell sang all the way. He had perfect control of himself on the scaffold, and addressed the vast crowd in a clear steady voice. He claimed he was going to Heaven, for no malice for anyone, prayed with the Rev. Gregg, but the crowd good-bye, asked all to meet him in Heaven, and then told the officials he was ready to die. The trap was sprung, and Caldwell took a nine-foot drop. He writhed in apparently terrible agony about three minutes and died from strangulation, his neck not being broken. He was pronounced dead in fifteen minutes, and his body was cut down, and placed in a coffin, and turned over to his friends.

FOR KEYES.

MADISON, Aug. 18.—The Congressional caucuses were held in the Second and Seventh wards to-night, and together with last night's caucuses, make the delegations from Madison solid for Keyes.

A WOMAN ASSASSINATED.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 18.—To-day Mrs. Mary Patch, while driving along the highway with her son, in Yamhill Co., was shot in the back and instantly killed. Deceased had a difficulty some time since with a neighbor named Smith, who is accused of the deed. A few weeks since Mrs. Patch was shot at by a concealed party, but missed. Intense excitement prevails.

LUMBER MILLS CLOSED.

Eau Claire, Wis., Aug. 18.—Two of the largest mills closed yesterday because of running short of logs. There are 75,000,000 feet of logs "hung up" on the South Fork of the Flambeau River, and 22,000,000 on the Jump River, and unless a September rise in those streams occurs the season will be short. The mill men are becoming despondent.

FINDING HUMAN REMAINS.

Bellevue, Aug. 18.—Some workmen digging a ditch found the remains of a human body in an old cistern that had been filled up with rubbish on the Dunham avenue. Medical men say it has not been buried over a year, and the mystery is unsolved, though the impression prevails that the stunts of the college took that method of disposing of a stiff.

MIDSUMMER WEDDINGS.

MADISON, Aug. 8.—There is a good deal of gossip here over two quiet weddings. The parties to the first were young Edward McCarty and Miss Kate Keyes, the attractive daughter of Eliza W. Keyes. The parties to the other marriage were a young man named Curtis and a young lady named Barker, both of whom are well known.

DROWNED.

MADISON, Aug. 18.—Last evening while Walker Pattie, of Milwaukee, and a companion were fishing on Lake Monona the boat capsized. Pattie, after clinging some time thereto, started to swim for shore, and had gone but a short distance when he went down. His body was recovered at 10 o'clock to-day. He was 19 years old.

"Dragging Palms."

Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.: Dear Sir—My wife had suffered with "dragging palms" for three years. At times she could hardly move, she had such dragging pains. We often saw your "Favorite Prescription" advertised, but supposed like most patent medicines it did not amount to anything, but at last concluded to try a bottle, which she did. It made her sick at first, but it began to show its effect in a marked improvement, and the bottles cured her. Yours, etc., A. J. Hoxby, Des Moines, N. Y.

DRAMATIC AND MUSICAL.

It will cost the Gollumites just $5 apiece to hear Patti under Mapleson's management.

Miss Emma Thursby will return from Europe about the middle of September and will give concert here, and elsewhere in the United States, under the management of Maurice Strakoske.

Bertha Welby has returned to her New York residence on Twenty-fourth street. She will spend the balance of the summer in study for her new play, "Ode Woman's Life," which will open at Hamilton, Ont., August 25th.

Little Harry Hamblin, who is singing "Gone with the Wind" at the Juvenile Opera company at Wallace's New York, is the talk of the town. He is said to be as handsome as a picture, and sings like an angel, setting the audience wild with enthusiasm.

Florence Herbert will not go on the road at all next season, and the people who were engaged to support her have been so notified. Mr. Seleck, her husband, has accepted the position of manager of the Jack Downing combination, which opens in Philadelphia, Sept. 4.

Without doubt one of the strongest attractions on the road next season promises to be the Lingers. Their time is booked in the best theatres in the best cities, and it is confidently believed by all managers that they will revive their great financial success of ten years ago.

It is reported that George Hoyt's two years' acting experiment with a Child of the State, has cost his mother, Mrs. John Hoyt, $40,000. It is also said that the Hon. Sigismund Kaufman, of Brooklyn, has paid out a very liberal amount of cash during the past year for the purpose of obtaining popular recognition for his son Alexander's asserted talents as an actor.

The original "Hazel Kirke" company is now on tour after a long and prosperous season in California. This play has been given every night except Sundays and Good Fridays ever since the 4th of February, 1880. Miss Edie Elster has played the part of Hazel all this time except one vacation of three weeks. She has lost only one performance through illness. Mr. Conlock, although more than 74 years of age, has not missed one performance in two years and a half that the play has been running.

Mrs. Langtry has brought her provincial tour to an end with clear net profit of $5,853, which is a very comfortable sum to earn in twelve weeks. She had intended to extend the tour to Ireland, but was prevented, owing to the continuous work telling on her. In the middle of September she will play in London for twelve nights, when she will appear in "As You Like It," and at the end of that month she will go to America, where she will remain for about six months. Her provincial company, before separating, presented her with a handsome album.

"A Square Map," written by E. J. Schwartz, and produced under the management of Mr. J. M. Hill, will be seen for the first time in Chicago to-morrow evening at McVicker's. The piece, according to Eastern papers, is a very strong one, and Mr. Ben J. Maginley, who plays the leading role, has a role suited to his abilities. The cast will include in addition to Maginley: Maurice Heppard, Herbert Ayling, J. O. Padgett, J. L. Morgan, Sidney R. Ellis, De Luss King, George Beane, Joseph Logan, J. Barry, W. Browning, William Andrews, Libbie Norton, Miss Meta Bartlett and Miss Helen Windsor.

WISCONSIN NEWS.

The Northern Wisconsin Spiritual conference will materialize at Omo on the 1st, 5th and 3d prox.

The Second Regiment of Wisconsin National Guards, Col. "Gabe" Boutwell, will go into camp near Oshkosh, Aug. 23. The J. I. Case Threshing Machine Company, of Racine, have sold and shipped to the neighborhood of 2,000 machines this season.

Fort Atkinson, Wis., Aug. 17.—Last evening a 5-year-old daughter of Mrs. T. Brown, a widow of this city, was drowned in the cistern of Mr. Bullock.

It is believed a settlement of affairs of A. C. Fish, the bankrupt carriage maker of Racine, will be made at 50 percent. Preferred creditor's claims amount to about $35,000, other claims to $25,000. The works are running as usual.

Neenah Times: Some years ago Miss Eleanor Nelson had a sewing machine needle strike her ankle. No trouble was experienced until a short time since, when the pain set in. Yesterday Drs. Lunde and Gordon, in Oshkosh, performed an operation and extracted the needle, part of which was imbedded in the bone.

During a storm early on the morning of the 14th, Mrs. Daniel Spencer, residing near Black River Falls, went with her husband to stack a load of hay left on the wagon the night previous. She mounted the stack and was almost immediately struck by lightning and killed. Her husband was badly shocked by the deadly fluid.

Geo. S. Shuckles is again in the toils at Madison for carrying out a fraudulent trade. At the time of his first offense he pleaded guilty, and on promise of abandoning his bad business, he was let off with a simple fine of $75. For this, the second offense, he was committed in default of bail to await trial at the next term of the United States District Court, to be held at La Crosse.

BREVETS.

—The Y. M. C. A. will hold a gospel meeting in the Jackson street M. E. Church.

—Remember the picnic of the Concordia Society, on Tuesday, August 22d, at Wheeler's grove.

—Mr. Leslie R. Trent has moved into his new store adjoining the drug store of F. Sherer & Co. on West Milwaukee street.

—Miss Martha and Sabra Young, of Prairie du Chien, are in the city, visiting the family of their uncle, Mr. R. P. Young.

—George K. Steelo, advance agent of Forepaugh's show, will arrive in the city to-night, and spend Sunday as the guest of Col. Burr Robbins.

—Buffalo Bill and his company will arrive here next Thursday, and open the season at the Opera House on August 21. The company will rehearse in Janesville.

—Nora Vernon, America's famous singing soubrette, will appear as Archie, the Nightingale, and Capitola, in the "Hidden Hand," which will be presented at the Opera House next week.

—Mr. Wall King returned from Dakota last night. He has made arrangements to establish a book and stationery store at Clark, Clark county, about 90 miles west of Watertown, in that Territory.

—Trinity church is to have a new organ, Prof. C. G. Titcomb, who has so ably filled that post for a long time, having severed his connection. The new organ is Mrs. J. E. Chapman, a lady of whose talents and ability there is the highest praise.

—The great cotton picking season in "The Hidden Hand," faithfully representing the slaves at work on the old plantation, and introducing the great plantation olio, songs, dances, choruses, etc., is alone worth more than the price of admission.

—The entertainment at Cannon's Hall August 24th, will furnish enjoyment for all. Sentiment, song and laughter. Miss Alvia Simmons will open a millinery store and tell her troubles. Admission to entertainment 10 cents. Dance tickets 50 cents.

—The League ball games yesterday resulted as follows: Cleveland 22, Worcester 7; Boston 9, Buffalo 8. The record of games won up to date is as follows: Providence 40, Chicago 30, Detroit 34, Boston 33, Cleveland 30, Buffalo 31, Troy 20, Worcester 13. Providence has lost 23 games and Chicago 25.

—The rehearsals for Prof. Titcomb's recital give promise of more than ordinary excellence, and as the programme is agreeably diversified, the entertainment cannot but prove interesting and satisfactory to all tastes. Some of the selections are very fine and of excellent rendition, but under the Professor's artistic and painstaking tutelage, the performers thoroughly mastered their respective parts. Cannon's hall will doubtless be crowded.

—Quite a large party has been formed here to join the excursion to Milwaukee of the Germania Society of Rockford. The train will reach here at a few minutes before 8 o'clock to-morrow morning to take aboard the Janesville excursionists, and leave precisely at 8. The arrangements are very extensive, and on the arrival in Milwaukee a fete of unusual proportions will be held at Schlitz Park. The round trip from Janesville will cost only $2.

THE CIRCUS COLLAPSE.

Colonel Burr Robbins interviewed on the subject.

Colonel Burr Robbins has returned from Kentucky, whither he went to endeavor to protect his interest in the "Big United States" circus, managed by Myers and Shorb.

A Gazette representative met the Colonel yesterday and had quite an interesting conversation on the subject.

"What is the status of the circus now?" was asked.

"It is in the hands of the marshal, and I do not know how long it will remain there."

"The cost will probably foot up quite a large sum then?"

"Yes. The charges amount to about $250 a day, and if the marshal holds the show thirty days there will be $7,500 in legal costs, burdened on the property."

"What is the aggregate amount of the attachments on it?"

"About $15,000."

"You held a mortgage on it, did you not?"

"Yes, of course, the attachments were made subject to any mortgage. The property will be sold, but when it is not determined."

"What was the cause of the collapse?"

"Well, to some extent, it was poor management, but then they experienced hard luck in meeting storms during their dates, yet the show should have made money in Canada, and did make money. It should have remained in Canada. Myers was the advance man and did good work, but he was not kept posted on the financial condition of the show. When I arrived in Louisville I found the people suffering for the very necessities of life. They had not been paid off for several weeks and nearly every one was absolutely broke. Shorb, deserted them, as soon as the seizure was made, leaving them in a strange way in perfectly destitute circumstances. The people, that is, a great many of them had nothing to eat, and I had to furnish them with food, which I did for two or three days. As soon as one attachment was served others were piled up in rapid succession until the incubus is now a very large one."

"Who controlled the finances of the show?"

"Mr. Shorb. The receipts immediately after the sale of tickets were turned over to him by the treasurer, and he paid all the bills that were paid."

"Will you buy the show in?"

"Yes, I suppose I will have to take it back. There is no other way for me to protect myself."

The "Big United States," which started out from here with flying colors under a hopeful management and a God-speed from all of Janesville, will therefore most probably be among us again before the lapse of many days.

Subsequent to writing the above, the date of the sale of the show has been fixed. Col. Robbins received a telegram to-day informing him that the court at Louisville had appointed September 5th as the day of sale.

Robbery at a Dance.

A few nights ago a colored ball was given in Beloit, and a few of Janesville's population of that color attended to honor the affair. Adam Smith was one of the delegation, and he prepared himself to have a good time, by replenishing his exchequer. Another representative from this city was a drynam named Howard Venable. Smith indulged his bibulous propensity to an inordinate degree, going through all the stages of inebriety from the jovial to the hyper-jovial, confidential, suspicious, quarrelsome, noisy, mandlin, and sportive. Falling asleep in the dance hall, he was tenderly picked up by Venable and one or two others and taken into the entry. Fearful that somebody might rob him, Venable exercised his right of acquaintance and fellow-townsmanship, to remove what wealth the sleeping Smith had about his person. As a sequel to the affair Smith swore out a warrant against Venable charging him with larceny, and Venable was arrested here. Smith charges that he had $32 while Venable next morning returned only $2. Others assert that they saw Venable count the money after he removed it from Smith, and that the amount was $32. Venable was released yesterday afternoon on $200 bail.

Official Lack of Courtesy.

Why do not the city authorities do something towards the entertainment of members of conventions held here? Absolutely nothing was done by the city at the State Teachers' Convention to make the delegates time pass agreeably and the National Convention of Educators at the Blind, was allowed to sit for three days, without the slightest recognition from the municipal government. If Janesville is honored by such such gatherings, it is only proper that some acknowledgment should be made. At the last convention held here, there were present some of the brainiest people in the country, men and women who have distinguished themselves in the cause of education, and representing as they did nearly every State in the Union it was a serious reflection upon the city government not to have made at least a show of appreciation. It is true their stay here was made pleasant, but private parties furnished the means. The blame for such remissness does not attach so much to the Mayor, but it is the fault of every member of the Council, who should have provided for some form of reception at their meeting last Monday night.

Death of F. E. Smiley.

A very sad blow was visited upon the family of Mr. John Smiley, of the town of Plymouth, yesterday. A son of brilliant promise, in whom Mr. Smiley had centered the highest hopes of a fond father's heart, was removed from the family circle by the inexorable hand of Death. Mr. F. E. Smiley, the young man to whom this poor tribute is paid, was well known to a great many of Janesville's citizens, and was universally esteemed for his uniform courtesies to all, and his probity of character, evidenced in the transaction of his official duties as a telegraph operator in the Western Union office there. He left the W. U. office and assumed a position as operator for the C. M. & St. P. railroad at the depot, where he contracted a cold about January 1st, which resulted so seriously. Settling upon his lungs, the cold developed into a pulmonary complaint the disease assuming "consumption's ghastly form." Notwithstanding the serious nature of his illness, the young man continued at his post, faithfully discharging the onerous duties devolving upon him, until February 1st, when he was compelled to resign. He then went home and lingered until 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when he died. Losing a loving and loved son, in the very bud of manhood, at the age of 27, is a deep affliction to the family, whose grief is assuaged only by the consciousness that he is in better world.

The funeral will take place from the family residence at 10 a. m. to-morrow, the Rev. Mr. Snyder, of Oxford, officiating.

Tracey Bartram.

The story of Tracey Bartram upon which the drama of the States Attorney, will be produced here Tuesday night was founded, is known to almost all the earlier settlers of Pennsylvania and caused quite an outcry against the Society of Friends, at that period 1855.

Daniel Bartram was a prosperous farmer living in the northern portion of the State at the time mentioned, being a man of thrift and industry, had amassed quite a fortune. It was a speculation among the neighbors as to who would be the lucky heir to his daughter's hand, Tracey, a beautiful Quakeress of eighteen. There were a number of young Quaker farmers who aspired to the honor, but from all accounts none seemed to impress the young girl favorably. At last it was whispered that Squire Roscoe, the postmaster, who by the way, was regarded as an oracle by the simple people, had discovered the lucky author, but nothing was said that might reach the ears of Daniel Bartram.

Near this Quaker farm lived a widow lady, Mrs. Gray, known as the "widow," with her son Rheuben, a good natured young man, possessing a marvelous voice for singing, yet withal, modest and unassuming. It appears that he had won the affections of the pretty Quakeress, but knowing that he would be denied admittance as a suitor, held secret interviews with the object of his affection. These meetings were observed by the Squire, who from a pure malicious nature, exaggerated their import, and apprised the Quaker after the day on which their interview was discovered by the Squire. Tracey Bartram was not seen until brought from her home, a corpse. The young man became demoralized and in his frenzy sprang upon the Squire, and backed him to pieces with a pruning knife. The Squire did not survive his wounds, and Rheuben a few years later died in an asylum. Connected with these circumstances and instrumental in forcing the Quaker to leave the county, and denouncing the informer, was Joel, a blacksmith, and his attorney, a peculiar personage, who afterwards became the States Attorney. Upon this incident the author founded the play, departing from the record to allow for dramatic effect.
